The marketing concentration at UNC Kenan-Flagler develops core skills in product management – including branding, new product development and pricing – along with critical customer-centric marketing competencies in marketing analytics, managing technology-intensive markets, services marketing and sales management. Our students gain real-world experience in these skills by entering case competitions, interning at leading brands and agencies, and engaging in STAR consulting projects.

MBA of Kenan-Flagler Business School
Full-Time MBA

mba.unc.edu/marketing
UNC Kenan-Flagler offers numerous resources for students pursuing careers in marketing, including personalized career coaching, workshops and case studies, and formal opportunities to learn from and network with dozens of leading CPG, technology, healthcare, services and manufacturing organizations through office hours, coffee chats and company presentations.

Advanced Marketing Workshops
Workshops are developed based on student interests and prepare students for effective job searches and success in their marketing careers. Past workshops include:
- Cracking the Marketing Case: Real-life examples of past promotions and branding help students prepare for case questions and marketing interviews.
- So You Don’t Want to be a Brand Manager: Students are exposed to careers outside of CPG, including roles in technology, healthcare and retail companies.
- Using Your Internship to Advance a Career: Students learn what to expect from an internship and how to convert it into a full-time employment offer.

Shadow Days
On one-day company visits, students interact with some of the world’s largest brands, including Hershey’s, Procter & Gamble and UPS, and meet with UNC alumni in senior leadership roles to evaluate cultural fit in the early stages of the career search process.

Company Networking Opportunities
UNC Kenan-Flagler provides opportunities to network with leading marketing organizations from various industries in mock interviews and happy hour events.

Career Interview Preparation
Students practice their interviewing skills and receive intensive feedback from career coaches and second-year students, building on strengths and identifying areas for further development.

Alumni
A broad and active network of UNC alumni work in key marketing roles, helping students explore careers in brand/product management, market research, new product development, advertising, and sales management.
